Donations are requested for this sale, and may be taken to the home of Mrs. Wm. G. McClintock, on Pleasant street.

The picnic grounds are situated on the Paris and Lexington road, near Paris, easily accessible from the interurban line, and by autos.

COUNTY ELECTION COMMISSIONERS CHOSEN

Will G. McClintock, Democrat, and J. S. Taylor, Republican, were named County Election Commissioners for Bourbon county in the list of Commissioners selected at Frankfort, Friday, by the State Election Board. The commissioners elected at this meeting will name the county officers to conduct the November regular election and the primary election in 1923.

In several counties, especially in the Tenth and Eleventh Congressional districts, the two Republican members of the commission, Roy Speck, chairman, and J. M. Perkins, out voted the Democratic member, Dr. John Stout, of Danville, and named the Democratic election commissioners.

Mrs. Annie Shanks Bourne, who was Democratic commissioner for Henry county last year, was re-appointed. She is the only woman election commissioner in the State and the only woman ever appointed to this post in Kentucky.

FIRE DAMAGES TENTH STREET SHOP

Damage approximating $750 was sustained in a fire at midnight Saturday, which partly destroyed a frame building on Tenth street. The house was occupied by Phil Hopkins, as a barber shop, and is owned by Judge H. Clay Howard.

The department was called by an alarm from Box 26, but by the time they reached the scene the house was practically destroyed. The cause of the fire was undetermined. The neighboring property, endangered for a while, was saved without damage. The loss on the building is fully covered by insurance.

PROBABLE STARTERS IN GOVERNMENTAL RACE

Much speculation has been indulged in recently regarding probable candidates for the Democratic nomination for Governor. In this connection, the name of James H. Thompson, of Bourbon county, has been given prominent and favorable mention. Under the head of "The Democratic Nomination For Governor," the Mt. Sterling Sentinel-Democrat pays the following compliment to Mr. Thompson, and to Mr. Will E. Simms, of Woodford county, a former resident of Paris:

"Much has been said in the papers of the State regarding the next Democratic nominee for Governor and many splendid men suggested for this important place. The Sentinel-Democrat is not pledged or obligated to any man and it shall be our endeavor to present to our readers from time to time what information we can glean regarding those who aspire to this high office or who have been suggested as candidates. We want to see in the Governor's chair, a business man of education, a man interested in good roads and good schools and lastly a man who has no further political aspirations, but who will be satisfied to retire after his term as Governor has expired.

"Among those suggested have been Congressman A. W. Barkley, Congressman W. J. Fields, Congressman J. Campbell Cantrill, Hon. Charles Marvin, Hon. William E. Simms, Hon. James H. Thompson, Hon. J. N. Camden, Editor Desha Breckinridge, Editor Harry A. Sommers, Judge Charles N. Harding, Hon. Thomas A. Combs, Judge W. R. Shackelford and Judge Charles C. Thomas.

"One of those mentioned in the State press as probable starters for the Democratic nomination for Governor has often been suggested the name of Hon. Will E. Simms, of Woodford county.

"Mr. Simms, a graduate of Yale, a man of means, a successful farmer and a gentleman of most pleasing personality, would no doubt make a splendid race. For many months he has been giving his time toward perfecting the Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association and has made numerous speeches throughout the State and it is from the people and not the politicians that men such as Will Simms will receive support.

"One of the outstanding figures of the last session of the General Assembly was Hon. James H. Thompson, of Bourbon county, Speaker of the House of Representatives. As Speaker his rulings were always fair and clean, his conduct above reproach, his courtesy unflinching and one would often hear the expression 'we need a man like Jim Thompson in the Governor's chair.'

"We have heard a number of men mentioned for the Democratic nomination for Governor and know of no one that would fill the office more acceptably than he. Born on a farm in Montgomery county, he moved to Bourbon county when quite a young man, where he has since resided. While he has represented his county twice as a member of the Legislature, he could in no sense be termed a politician because on both occasions he has been practically drafted for service by his party and was nominated and elected without opposition.

"As a business man and farmer he has been a success and his interest in the welfare of the farmer was proven by his labors in behalf of a fair and just tax law for the owners of real property and we doubt if there is a better posted man in the State on matters of taxation than Mr. Thompson.

"A man of the people, interested in rendering some real service to the State, with no selfish interests to serve and no further political ambitions to gratify he would make a candidate any right-thinking, Kentucky-loving citizen could fearlessly and conscientiously support. We do not know whether Mr. Thompson is

PRESBYTERIANS OPEN CAMPAIGN IN BOURBON COUNTY

The Presbyterians of Paris have opened their campaign for Christian Education. This is a part of the Statewide movement for $1,000,000 for Centre College; the Presbyterian Theological Seminary; Kentucky College for Women; Witherspoon College; Pikeville College; Lees Collegiate Institute; Matthew T. Scott, Jr., Academy; Sayre School, and the Presbyterian Orphanage at Anchorage.

About forty Presbyterian officers and their wives, and several guests attended the Blue Hue dinner Monday evening at the First Presbyterian church at six-thirty o'clock, when Dr. John C. Acheson, President of the Kentucky College for Women, and Dr. John M. Vander Meulen, President of the Theological Seminary, spoke on Christian education. Both are widely known throughout Kentucky as authorities on Christian education. A number of other prominent Presbyterians were called during the evening. At the Blue Hue dinner the plans of the campaign in Paris, and just what the cause means to the Presbyterian churches here and throughout the State, were explained by Paul Harris, Jr., of Louisville.

This Blue Hue dinner is a special feature of the campaign and marks the actual beginning of the intensive work necessary in a cause of this kind, according to Mr. E. R. Pike, who is in charge of the work.

The active co-operation of the women of the Presbyterian church has been secured, and they did much, through Mrs. J. T. Tadlock, chairman to make the dinner a success. The musical program was under the direction of Miss Elizabeth Crutcher.

The active committees have been appointed by those in charge of the Presbyterian movement for Christian education—a woman's committee and a committee in charge of the four-minute speakers. Serving under Mrs. J. T. Tadlock, chairman of the Woman's Committee, are a number of sub-chairmen, as follows: Prayer, Mrs. Charles Butler and Mrs. R. J. Neely; Census, Mrs. J. T. Vansant; Special Program, Mrs. T. S. Smylie; Life Enlistment, Mrs. J. Simms Wilson; Organization, Mrs. Owen L. Davis.

The four-minute men will present the case at all church services. This committee is headed by Owen L. Davis, and serving with him are Judge E. M. Dickson, Claude M. Thomas, C. B. Mitchell, M. P. Collier and Robert Meteer.

"HEAD OVER HEELS" WITH MABEL NORMAND

No actress on the screen to-day has enjoyed the vicissitudes of her success more than the ebullient Mabel Normand, who will be seen in her newest Goldwyn photoplay, "Head Over Heels," at the Alamo and Grand this afternoon and night.

In her latest Goldwyn release, "Head Over Heels," she is cast as a foreign acrobat with a flaring temperament. And never one in the course of her encounters with the representatives of a strange civilization, does she balk at being the circus performer to the life. However, there are gentle moments also for Miss Normand in this photoplay, for the ignorant acrobat blossoms into a sweet girlish personality whose lovely eyes and captivating manner have much to do with solving the problem of her career.

As usual, Mabel Normand is supported by an excellent cast, including Hugh Thompson, Russ Powell, Raymond Hatton and Lilyan Tashman.

even considering running or not, but if he should make the race he has a host of friends here in old Montgomery who would go their limit for him."

THE STRIKE SITUATION

Attempts to end the rail shopmen's strike by separate settlements with individual roads failed and conferences were broken off in New York.

In announcing the breaking off of negotiations, David Williams, head of the Eastern strike committee, said:

"Nothing else could have happened. If they'll quit fussing around we'll beat these fellows."

A statement by the executives representing fifty-two main and subsidiary lines with 85,000 miles of trackage, who had attended the latest conferences, disclaimed any desire to take advantage of the strike situation to curtail the "pension or privileges" which had been earned by the strikers before quitting and expressed a willingness to restore all strikers with pension privileges unimpaired.

From unofficial sources it was learned that the breakup came when labor men rejected a proposal advanced by the roads which was regarded by executives as representing a big concession.

At labor headquarters, where it was said the unions were prepared for a fight-to-the-finish, telegrams were being dispatched all over the country, calling upon strikers to renew the struggle with redoubled vigor.

D. A. R. TRIP TO FRANKFORT THURSDAY

Have you ever visioned the beauties of the Kentucky River from the deck of a slow-moving steamer, or from a comfortable seat on a barge, as they floated tranquilly along? Have you ever made one of these trips? If you have not, then the chance will be afforded you on Thursday, when the Jemima Johnson Chapter, D. A. R., will promote a round-trip to Frankfort and a ride up the river.

The big barge, towed by a river steamer, will leave Frankfort at ten o'clock on the morning of Thursday, August 31, for the trip. Those who have viewed the ever-changing beauties of the river and its environments need not be told of its wonders, but to those who have never been there it will be a revelation of beauty. The journey to Frankfort may be made by the L. & N., the Interurban, or by motor car, arriving in time to join the party. The round trip will cost only one dollar. Those intending to make the trip should provide themselves with a box lunch, which can be served on the upper deck of the barge.

The proceeds will be used by the local D. A. R. Chapter in purchasing a marker to mark the grave of Squire Boone, brother of Kentucky's noted pioneer, Daniel Boone, which has been located on a farm on the Little Rock pike, near Paris. The Chapter also aims to purchase a bronze tablet, bearing names of all the Revolutionary soldiers from Bourbon county, to be placed in a conspicuous place in the Bourbon county court house, as soon as permission can be obtained.

All members of the D. A. R., their friends, and their friends, or any others can spend a most enjoyable day by making this trip, which will be one of great interest to them. Pack up your old lunch box, lay aside all your business and social cares, and go to Frankfort on the D. A. R. trip Thursday.

PARIS HIGH SCHOOL FOOTBALL TEAM

Football practice will begin Tuesday, September 5th. Hancock Field is being put into condition for the opening of the season. Bleachers are being erected to seat five hundred people. A fence is being put around the playing field to prevent any one but the players and officials from entering the playing lines. Paris High School will have one of the best football fields in Kentucky this year. Plenty of room for parking automobiles without obstructing the view from the grandstand or bleachers. Nearly all of last year's team will return to school and many new promising players will be on hand.

Coach Clay Ward is optimistic over the outlook and busy now every day getting things in order for the opening. Mr. Ward is one of the best football men that ever wore the University of Virginia uniform, and the success he had with his team last year gives assurance of a great team this year.

Six games will be played at home this year. Among the teams that will play here this year is the St. Xavier's School, of Louisville, on October 28th. The boys are eager for school to open. Thirty boys are expected to try for places on the team. The playing season will open September 15th with Carlisle in Paris.

public quietude." Well, well, how could anyone expect to sell newspapers otherwise. Use the radio system, eh?

Great game in the American Association baseball league Friday, when Philadelphia and Boston played a 26 to 23 score game. Deputy Sheriff Jim Gibson said it reminded him of the old days in Bourbon county when two teams played at Ruddles Mills, in a score of 46 to 59, the game lasting two days.

REGARDING PEREMPTORY CHALLENGES

Repeated attempts have been made to change the Kentucky law relating to the number of peremptory challenges allowed the defense in selecting a jury in criminal cases, but all of these have failed in the Legislature. Under the present law the defense is permitted fifteen peremptory challenges as against only five allowed the Commonwealth.

The system has been attacked by eminent jurists as an obstacle to meting out justice and an unfair advantage for the defendant in a criminal prosecution. Movements have been started by law reformers to reduce the defense challenges to ten, or twice the number allowed the prosecution, but these efforts have succeeded in getting no farther than the introduction of the bills in the Legislature.

Lawyer members of the Legislature generally are opposed to any such reform measure and this in a large measure accounts for its failure to make any headway in the lawmaking body. An element of personal interest enters into the matter as the lawyer-solons most often practice in the criminal courts and hardly could be brought to the point of aiding in any movement that would have the effect of surrendering any advantage of a prospective client in a criminal action.

Law reformers may inveigh against the present system, but as long as lawyers make up about a third of the membership of the Legislature, the chances are that it may be some time before a defendant will go to trial in a criminal case with less than fifteen peremptory challenges at his disposal in picking the jury to try him.

TENNESSEE GROWERS SIGNING CONTRACTS

President and General Manager James C. Stone received a telegram from Dr. Samuel H. Halley, manager of storage of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association, who is a member of the party of Burley leaders who went to Gallatin, Tenn., to help sign up the crop of Summer county to the association, in which Dr. Halley reported "a glorious day's work" for the first day of the drive.

"John Buckley led in the number of contracts signed," the telegram read, "and Charley Cecil, of Danville, was second. Indications are that we shall sign up the entire crop of the country."

TOBACCO GROWERS TO ATTEND TOBACCO FAIR

Growing interest in the Tobacco Fair, which will be a feature of the Tri-State Fall Festival, October 22 to November 4, at the Kenton Tobacco Warehouse, in Covington, has caused the executive committee to announce that rich prizes will be awarded for the best samples of tobacco grown in Ohio, Kentucky and Indiana.

Tobacco growers from these States have been making inquiries concerning the coming fair, and the United States department of agriculture also has taken cognizance of it and will probably have an exhibit. Already many merchants have secured space for display of their exhibits.

NEW CONTRACTS ADDED BY LEAF POOL

New contracts to the number of 595 were reported as having been received the past week at the office of the field service division of the Burley Tobacco Growers' Co-operative Association. Of this number 165 were sent in by James N. Kehoe, of Maysville, and were secured by him and the county workers in the Eastern Kentucky and Ohio districts.

From the West Virginia field 185 were turned in. In Bath county that was signed practically solid last year a short drive made by J. R. Crockett and other voluntary workers and 35 new members were added. Other counties that signed a good number were: Estill, 27; Taylor, 26; Barren, 18; Garrard, 25; Franklin, 25; Switzerland, Indiana, 20.

One of the troubles with the world to-day is that there are too many show places and not enough work places.

Miss Anna Powell—Part Time Continuation Teacher.

The faculty of the High School will be composed of the following:

Prof. F. A. Scott, Principal; Prof. John Shaw, A. B., Science and Mathematics; Prof. Roy I. Pepper, Mathematics and History; Miss Frances Butler, A. M., Science; Miss Reba Lockhart, History and Economics; Miss Lucille Harbold, A. B., Latin; Miss Zurelda Nolan, A. B., English; Miss Maude Asbury, B. S., Home Economics, Sewing, Millinery and Designing; Miss Irene Evans, B. S., Home Economics, Cooking, Food Study, Household Chemistry; Miss Nell Robbins, A. B., Physical Education, First Aid, Physiology; Miss Mary Louise Lillard, A. B., Latin and English; Miss Nata Lee Woodruff, A. B. French and Spanish; Mr. Horace Miller Clay, Mechanical Drawing and Manual Training; Miss Ellen Blanding, A. B., Public School Music, Chorus and Glee Club Work; Miss Longstaff, B. S., Bookkeeping, Shorthand, Typewriting; Miss Irene Bramblett, A. B., Public Speaking; Mr. Clay Ward, Director of Athletics for Boys.

Registration of students has been going on for several days, and will continue through part of this week. Junior and Senior students finished their registration Monday, and Freshmen will complete their registration to-day, August 29. All students in these respective classes are requested to report on the above dates.

Tuesday morning, September 5, the schools will begin a part of their work. All children in the First and Second Grades will start to school Tuesday; September 5; Third and Fourth Grades, Wednesday, September 6; Fifth and Sixth Grades, Thursday, September 7; Seventh and Eighth Grades, Friday, September 8. Freshman students will start their class work Monday, September 11; Sophomores, Tuesday, September 12; Juniors, Wednesday, September 13; Seniors, Thursday, September 14.

All students from outside of the city who attend the Paris City Schools this year will be required to present a receipt for their tuition before being enrolled in any class. Parents are urged to come to the school, and enroll their children, and pay their tuition before the opening of school.

The cafeteria at the City School is being re-furnished and will be one of the most attractive school lunch rooms in the State when the fall session opens. Mrs. Batterson will again be in charge of this work, acting for the Health and Welfare League, who have for many years been the promoters of the school lunches in the City School.

The High School has been reorganized, and put on the same working basis of the large City High Schools in the South. Seven different courses of study are open to the students, from which they can choose their work, namely, classical, Modern Language, Scientific, Pre-Engineering, Agriculture, Home Economics and Commercial.

The class schedule will be so arranged that every High School student will finish his recitation work at 2:30 in the afternoon, and the seventh period will be a study period throughout the High School. This plan has been adopted for the benefit of athletic practice. Students can now be excused for practice on the athletic field without interfering with the last afternoon class.

The prospects are now that the schools of Paris are at the beginning of a great year. With a Senior class of sixty, a High School enrollment of perhaps 400, a High School Lyceum corps of ten numbers, the best athletic schedule the school has ever had, the largest faculty in the history of the school, and an unusual amount of interest and enthusiasm there seems to be present a feeling of real progress in the school life of the community.

MEETING OF KENTUCKY CONFERENCE AT HARRODSBURG

All Bourbon county ministers of the Methodist church, as well as many laymen, will go to Harrodsburg, on September 30, to attend the one hundred and second annual Kentucky Conference, which will be in session there up to and including September 4. Bishop U. V. W. Darlington, a native Kentuckian, and for some time a member of the conference, will preside.

This annual Conference is an occasion of the greatest interest to all members and friends of the Methodist church. The attendance is large, usually several hundred. From present indications a rather large number of ministers will be moved to other charges. Some may be transferred to other Conferences, and a few may come from other Conferences to this one. The Kentucky Conference takes in all or part of fifty-nine counties of the State, lying east of Louisville and west of the Big Sandy. In this Conference there are 132 pastoral charges, divided into five districts. The Presiding Elder for this district is Rev. F. B. Jones, who resides in Paris. The Presiding Elders as an advisory committee, assist the Bishops in fixing the appointments of the preachers for the coming year.

This being the first Conference session since the meeting of the General Conference, all boards and committees for the next four years must be made up. The Centenary, the Christian Education Movement and the Superannuated Endowment Fund will claim attention.

LET'S GO TO THE PICNICS

The old fashioned farmer had not much use for days off for sports and picnics. One such man objected on picnic day to taking both of his boys. He wanted one of them to remain at home and look after the chores. "Your brother will tell you all about it when he gets home," was his reply to the disappointed youngster.

They are not so common now, but some old timers are still reluctant to give their young folks their fair share of the fun of country life. If you are going to keep your young crowd contented you must give them a fair chance to join in the fun going on in Paris and Bourbon county.

AUTOS COLLIDE IN EAST PARIS SUNDAY

In a collision which occurred in East Paris Sunday afternoon two automobiles, one belonging to Albert Hinton, the other to Lee Roe, of East Paris, were badly damaged. The collision occurred at a point near a sharp curve in Main street.

Mr. and Mrs. Hinton, and the latter's mother, Mrs. Peed, were in the Hinton car, going east, when the car said to have been driven by Roe, approached from the other direction, it being alleged that he was driving on the wrong side of the road. In attempting to change to the other side Roe's car swerved directly in front of Mr. Hinton's car, which struck it broadside. Both cars were badly damaged, but the occupants escaped injury. The cars were sent to a local garage for repairs.

BEF HERDS SUFFER AS DROUTH CUTS PASTURES

Hundreds of purebred beef breeding cattle herds in Kentucky are apt to suffer expensive losses in weight during the present drouth existing throughout the State, unless extra feeds are supplied to supplement the falling pastures in many sections, according to E. S. Good, head of the animal husbandry department of the College of Agriculture and a well-known authority on beef cattle. Losses in weight at this time of the year are difficult to regain later in the season. The sleek appearance which is a desirable condition in the breeding herd also is marred when the animals in it lose weight, he pointed out.

"Silage has been found to be one of the best feeds to tide cattle over during a period of drouth such as is being experienced in the State at the present time. Cows that are nursing calves should be given grain in addition to silage, five or six pounds a day being sufficient. Cows without calves can get along with silage alone.

"If no silage is available, hay may be used in its place, in which case the grain feed should be increased to 10 pounds a day for each cow that is nursing a calf. However, cows that are not nursing calves may be maintained on the hay alone.

"Experiences on the college farm indicate that owners of purebred breeding cattle herds should find this method of feeding a profitable one. Breeding cattle in the college herd have been given supplementary feeds since the drouth started and this method of herd management will be continued until the pastures are revived with fall rains. Preventing shrink in cattle by supplementing the short pastures should prove economical on every beef breeding farm.

"If silage is fed during the summer, it should be lowered from four to six six inches in the pit every day in order to prevent loss from decay. Breeders who have no facilities for feeding silage undoubtedly would profit by making plans now to store some of their green crops, for feed during periods of drouth that exist from time to time in the State."

ICE CREAM MEN PETITION HEALTH BOARD

Acting on a petition of ice cream manufacturers of Kentucky, the Bureau of Foods, Drugs and Hotels of the State Board of Health will hold a hearing in Louisville early in September to decide whether manufacturers of ice cream shall be permitted to reduce the percentage of butter fat from 10 per cent in plain cream and 8 per cent in fruit cream to 8 and 6 per cent respectively, it was announced by Miss Sarah H. Vance, director of the Bureau.

The manufacturers who have requested that this change in the regulations be made, Miss Vance says, give as their reasons for it the fact that every State surrounding Kentucky has the lower percentage requirement and that the lower standard invariably results in an increased sale of dairy products.

Before the State Board of Health takes any action in the matter, however, Miss Vance added, it desires to know what other persons interested wish, and for this reason dealers who handle ice cream and members of the general public that use it are invited to communicate their views to the Bureau of Foods, Drugs and Hotels before Sept. 5.

DOLLAR WHEAT AND THE EMERGENCY TARIFF

It has not been many years since Warren G. Harding expressed the opinion that farmers could obtain prosperity by raising dollar wheat. It is the irony of fate that on August 15, in the second year of President Harding's administration, wheat sold as low as a dollar a bushel, and touched the low price of 99 1/2 cents. Three years ago farmers were receiving $3.35 and $3.50 a bushel for wheat.

The Emergency Tariff bill put a duty on wheat for the purpose of restoring the slump in prices, but wheat declined, and although the tariff on wheat is still enforced it dropped to $1 a bushel on August 15, which raises again the all-important question of how much longer the Republican party will try to fool the farmers by putting high tariff duties on agricultural products which this country exports?

PROGRAM FOR MENTAL SURVEY IS ADOPTED

Organization of the advisory committee of the Kentucky National Committee for Mental Hygiene was effected at a meeting of the advisory committee, and a program to be followed in making the mental survey of the State authorized a joint resolution passed by the last general assembly was adopted. Dr. J. M. Tinsley, of Barbourville, was named chairman. This survey, it was explained, has as its objects the determining of the character of the needs of prisoners in the State's penal institutions and of some of the State's school children in order that steps may be taken to reduce the number of criminals and mental defectives in the next generation.

PRUNES SUCCESSFULLY GROWN IN MASON COUNTY

Frank L. Paeltz, farmer of Mason county, has proved that prunes can be raised to advantage in this part of the country. He has a tree of German variety on his farm. It is sixteen feet tall and twenty inches in circumference, and he has gathered from it this season four and three-fourths bushels of prunes. Some of them measured six and one-half inches around. A twig cut off for exhibition contained twenty-eight prunes.

NAMES IN POLITICS

Probably no man in the United States is better known than William Jennings Bryan, yet to thousands he is and always will be called "Bryant."

The late James B. McCreary was a Kentucky politician whose name was a household word but many persisted in pronouncing his name as though spelled "McQueary." Some years ago a candidate with the latter name appeared on the ballot in the State primary and although he had formally withdrawn two weeks before the election, he received over 25,000 votes in the State, the presumption being that those who voted for him believed they were voting for "James B."

The late William Goebel figured in one of the most spectacular political contests ever waged in Kentucky but to many friends and foes alike he was called "Gobill" and "Jobell." Even now Senator Ernst is known to thousands of people in the State only as "Ernest."

That there is nothing in a name, at least politically, seems to have been vindicated when the late Jas. R. Hindman, of Adair county, was elected Lieut. Governor of Kentucky, although latter day parties hardly would tempt fate by putting up a candidate with that hoodoo cognomen.

That there is a certain psychological connection between names and politics is shown by the political history of the State. In practically every case the man with a long name or one with an involved pronunciation has been at a disadvantage in seeking political preferment and rarely has attained it. The candidate with the short and easy name has the best of it in politics.

FOUR NOTED HORSES IN SARA TOGA SPECIAL

A special match race which will bring together Kai Sang, Whiskaway, Bunting and Pillory has been arranged by Richard T. Wilson, president of the Saratoga association. The race, which is to be called the Saratoga Special Three-Year-Old Championship, will be run as an added feature to Saturday's program.

The race will be at a mile and a quarter, each starter to carry 120 pounds. Three must start or there will be no race.

CLEVELAND'S WAY

(Courier-Journal)

It has not been uncommon during the present railroad strike to hear the expression of a wish that Grover Cleveland were in the White House.

Why, Edward Townsend in the New York Herald relates a bit of history which has some bearing on the answer to that question.

On the night of July 8, 1894, John C. Barclay, at that time manager of the Western Union Telegraph Company in Chicago, looking out from the window of a tall building, saw the illumination of fires among the freight cars in the railroad yards. He went to a telegraph key and called to the operator in the White House, asking permission to wire a story of the situation to the President.

His request was granted, his message was sent and the same night a message went from the White House to Fort Sheridan. Addressed to the Colonel commanding, it directed him to proceed to Chicago by daylight to protect Government property and to prevent interference with the mails.

President Cleveland, not having a Best Mind, did not require weeks and months in which to make it up—and unmake it.

MRS. LUCIA AMES MEADE ON "WORLD PEACE."

(By Mabel Jean Melton)

"World Peace" and all it symbolizes to the womanhood of the world will be the subject of an address to be delivered by Mrs. Lucia Ames Mead, of Boston, Mass., as the outstanding feature of Club Women's Day at the Kentucky State Fair, Tuesday, September 12th.

Mrs. Mead, a clubwoman of international reputation, will be introduced by Mrs. J. B. Reynolds, Paducah, Ky. President of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs, at a mass meeting to be held at 4 o'clock Tuesday afternoon in the Horseshow Pavilion. Mrs. Mead has made a thorough study of international peace problems. She will bring the result of this study to the women of Kentucky.

Presidents of the various Louisville women's clubs, augmented and assisted by a State Committee of representative club women from all sections of Kentucky, will occupy prominent places in the pavilion. Each officer will bear the banner of the club represented by her. Louisville women will act as individual hosts to all visitors to the Fair, during the week. Quantities of flags and potted plants will be used to form a background for the speakers of the day.

Mrs. John H. Miller, a clubwoman of State-wide influence, has been appointed publicity chairman of the day. In speaking of the address to be made by Mrs. Mead, Mrs. Miller sends the following message to all women: "Something of the supreme happiness of peace, together with the justice of a world-wide movement for 'No More War,' will be pointed out by Mrs. Mead. How women, through organization may do their share to create an atmosphere conducive to 'World Peace' will be shown by the speaker. Mrs. Mead will emphasize the truth that, 'Peace hath her victories no less renowned than war.'"

In playing hosts to women of Kentucky during the State Fair Week, the club women of Louisville are prepared to dispense Kentucky Hospitality in the "good old-fashioned way." A spacious tent will be located near the street car entrance, close by the famous Kentucky Log Cabin, with its quaint collection of historic relics. This tent will be known as Clubwoman's Tent. Comfortable wicker furnishings, with writing and checking facilities will be at the disposal of guests. Hostesses will be on duty to welcome all visitors. Four large books will be placed in the tent, and every woman will be invited to register.

Just across the way from the Women's Tent, is situated the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Building. The second floor of this building is given over to displays of women's handiwork, including needlework, decorative art work, and, canning and baking.

Through the combined efforts of the clubs of Louisville, books containing six admission tickets may be purchased for $2.00. The regular gate fee is 50 cents. These books may be purchased up to September 8th, after which the regulation price will prevail. Those desiring tickets should mail checks to the Kentucky State Fair, 604 Republic Building, Louisville. These tickets may be used any day, and are good for admission to the hippodrome exhibition at night.

Thus a personal invitation to women of the State to visit Louisville during State Fair week is issued by Louisville clubwomen. Their tent is to be the women's parlor at the Kentucky State Fair.

SHIPPING SHEET RUBBER

(Scientific American)

A new case for shipping sheet rubber has been introduced into Singapore shipping circles by an American firm. These reach local exporters in the form of sheets made of 100 per cent fiber, the riveting, packing and wiring being done by the shippers. The thinness of the sheets enables the cases built from them to hold from 12 to 25 per cent more weight of rubber than old wooden boxes, and the new construction is practically unbreakable, very cleanly and waterproof.

MARK TWAIN'S "STRAINED RELATIONS"

A very gentle spoken woman called on Mark Twain (one day in his later years) and promised she would stay but a moment and say no more than a few words if only she might sit face to face with the great man. When she rose to go she said in a voice of deepest reverence: "May I kiss your hand?" Then as she went out she said: "How God must love you!" "I hope so," he said softly; but after she had gone he could not help saying, in a quaint, half-pathetic voice: "I guess she hasn't heard of our strained relations."

WHITE QUITS AS EDITOR OF JUDGE

Rather than edit a magazine advocating return of wine and beer, William Allen White, Emporia editor and author, resigned the editorship of Judge. In a statement to the Associated Press he explained his position:

"I stopped writing editorials for Judge because the responsible editors of Judge felt that the paper should stand for the return of light wines and beer," he said. "They had every right in the world to their opinion, and I respect them highly. But naturally I couldn't permit the use of my name as contributing editor in a paper with views I disagreed with so entirely. Twenty-seven years as an employer of reporters and writers and eight years as a printer, a reporter and editorial writer, have taught me that the man back of the payroll after all is the man whose judgment should go in a matter of this kind. He must win or lose on his own judgment and no writer should feel that he has been 'trotted on.'"

"If the boss has his ideas and imposes them upon the papers; this is a free country; if you don't like your job, quit it. If I had lived in New York or if Judge could be printed in Kansas, I might have tried to out-talk the boss, but as it was, talking was hard and quitting was easy. So I quit."

A PLEASING MYTH

Influenza, a plague in many parts of the world, now is reducing greatly the Indians in the Athabasca region of Canada, trappers report. The aborigines, living under conditions almost as primitive as those of the period of the discovery of America, have little power of resistance to epidemic disease, and are without the aid of medical science.

The romantic conception of the savage is that he is a model of physical strength and symmetry and almost immune from the ills of the flesh to which civilized man is heir.

The fact often is that he is not the superior of civilized men in stature or proportions, and if it sometimes is true that wild tribes are free from some of the diseases that attend civilization, it also is true that many savages die of mere ailments which a civilized man knows how to treat without the aid of a physician.

There are no corner drug stores in the wilderness, and simple home remedies are not, in most instances the "big medicine" they are represented as being in romantic literature of the life of savages.

Influenza may be a disease of civilization or it may not. But when it is known that flocks of poultry may get tuberculosis from wild birds it is plain that immunity from disease is not enjoyed by wild life, and that perfect ventilation is not a 100 per cent prevention of a scourge which flourishes among human beings where ventilation is bad.

Influenza was first recorded in Italy, where its name grew out of its origin being attributed, by astrologers, to the influence of heavily bodies. But whether the infection borne to civilized Italy from some uncivilized region where it had decimated the wild tribes is a question not easily answered in the negative.

POMERENE HITS HARDING ADMINISTRATION

Senator Pomerene delivered the keynote address of the Democratic State convention at Columbus, Ohio, Tuesday. He charged the Republican Administration with repudiation of their 1920 campaign pledges and that the greater part of the legislation by the present Congress has been for the benefit of Big Business rather than for ordinary citizens. He termed the Republican tariff bill the greatest "piece of pork barrel" legislation in the history of Congress.

DANGER SIGNALS TO BE ERECTED

The State Highway Commission issued permits to advertising signal concern to place danger warnings at crossings and curves on the State highways at points selected by the department. Several of these will be located in Bourbon county. The concerns are to maintain the signals without expense to the State. They are the Louisville Signal Company and the Automatic Signal Advertising Company of Minneapolis.

STATE SAVES MONEY ON AUTO TAGS

The State Tax Commission saved the State of Kentucky approximately $6,000 when it let the contract for automobile license tags for 1923 to the Automobile Vehicle Tag Company, of St. Paul, Minn., at 11 1/2 cents per pair. The contract for the 1922 tags was let last year to the National Color Type Company, of Newport at 17 1/2 cents per pair. The 1923 license tags will be blue and white.

The League of Advertising Women of New York City has a membership of more than 200.

GOOD NEWS

Many Paris Readers Have Heard It and Profited Thereby

"Good news travels fast," and the many bad back sufferers in Paris are glad to learn where relief may be found. Many a lame, weak and aching back is bad no more, thanks to Doan's Kidney Pills. Our citizens are telling the good news of their experience with this tested remedy. Here is an example worth reading:

Mrs. J. T. Martin, 1024 Main street, Paris, says: "I fell and received an injury which left my kidneys in a weakened condition. I suffered severely and although I took different remedies nothing gave me a bit of relief. My back ached and pained until I thought it would break and sharp twinges of pain shot through my kidneys. In one week after taking Doan's Kidney Pills I felt like a different woman and I still take them when I feel my kidneys need a tonic." (Statement given February 17, 1908.)

On November 12, 1920, Mrs. Martin said: "Doan's Kidney Pills are certainly all they are claimed to be and I recommend them just as strongly to-day as I did many years ago. I gladly confirm my former statement."

Price 60c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Martin had. Foster-Milburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

NOT NECESSARY

"Something is wrong when 60 per cent of the farmers of the United States live upon mortgaged farms," says Representative Cantrill in an address at Campbellsville, in which he spoke of businesslike marketing as the key to farm profits.

An investigation of the situation of American business establishments would reveal that a very large proportion of business heads are paying interest upon notes of hand or upon bonded indebtedness.

The farmer ought to be able to go into debt with greater certainty of being able to pay his expenses, to educate his children and to meet the annual interest on his land note. Borrowing money on such gill-edge security as improved land may enable the farmer to conduct a larger business and find a larger profit, provided he is the beneficiary of a marketing plan that will guard him against the calamity of a larger deficit as a result of enlarging operations.

Borrowing often is excellent business. Countless American farms are operated at a disadvantage because their owners never have had command of sufficient money to equip them and stock them properly. Many farmers, wisely, have feared to borrow money because they have known that their net return is less than 6 per cent.

GAME AND FISH EXHIBITS AT STATE FAIR

The exhibits of the State game and fish commission at the Kentucky State Fair this year will surpass those of previous years, according to Dr. R. S. Tuttle, executive agent of the commission. For the first time the commission will have an exhibit of native pheasants and all of the aquariums filled with native fish.

In addition to these there will be on exhibition many varieties of wild animals and birds, natives of Kentucky. The exhibit of opossums will include the mother and 16 young ones, which were born recently at the Bononi Macklin Fish Hatchery. Dr. Tuttle stated that reports received from various counties of the State indicate that quail will be plentiful this fall.

FAMINE IN 1923 PREDICTED

(Pathfinder)

Using the "periodogram" method of computation, Sir William Reveridge, of England, predicts severe crop failures in 1923. According to his calculations, which are based on variations in wheat prices in Europe during the last 300 years, there are four weather cycles which affect crops and all of these indicate heavy and destructive deluges throughout the growing season of next year. On the other hand, T. H. nance attacks the cycle theory and nance, attacks the cycle theory and reminds us of the famous weather cycle prophecies of Farmer Benner, of Ohio. After a long series of successful predictions Benner predicted great prosperity for 1907, a year of panic and general business depression. While admitting a measure of regularity in periods of depressions and prosperity in business history, Price thinks such theories and gloomy forebodings are detrimental and discourage prosperity.

CLOSE OF IMPORTANT PRESBYTERIAN CONFERENCE

An important conference of workers of the Presbyterian Synod of Kentucky, which was attended by more than thirty ministers and 225 registered delegates from all over Central and Eastern Kentucky, has just been concluded at Jackson, Ky. The delegates from Paris who attended and participated in its activities have returned home, giving glowing accounts of the meeting.

The conference was under the general direction of Thomas B. Talbott, of Lexington, superintendent of missions, who stated that the meeting was a gathering of the Mountains and Bluegrass for mutual inspiration and interchange of views relative to mission and church work.

Professor C. A. Leonard, of Jackson, and Rev. J. C. Hanley, principal of Lees Institute, Jackson, made the addresses of welcome at the opening session, followed in the evening by an address by Rev. Elmer Gabbard, of Witherspoon College, Buckhorn, Ky.

"The Lees Institute and city of Jackson extended generous hospitality to the delegates which was greatly appreciated," said Superintendent Talbott, "and all in all the conference proved to be in every way a success, and cannot fail to be of lasting value to all who took part in it or came under its influence."

"There was brought to the women, aside from the regular work of the conference, inspiring messages from Montreal by Mrs. H. P. Cooper, of Lebanon; Mrs. Chas. Welch, of Nicholasville, and Mrs. J. T. Tadlock, of Paris, summarizing the addresses and reports before the recent conference with Mrs. Hindsborough."

DON'T KILL UMPIRES

No matter how great the temptation, don't kill the umpire. You may not be punished, because punishment for murder is rare in America, and murder common as a result of the rarity of punishment. But you will regret it, almost surely, if in sudden heat and passion you kill the umpire.

Consider the case of the young man of Fenton, Mo., who is charged with murder as a result of having swatted the umpire with a baseball bat because his decision was favorable to the Valley Park team, when the score stood 5 to 0 in Fenton's favor.

The game ended in a score of 11 to 0 in favor of Fenton, the adverse decision of the regular umpire having been reversed after the umpire had been removed in an ambulance to a hospital in St. Louis, where he died.

The victory of the home team is a very great satisfaction, like falling their unexpectedly to a large fortune, or marrying the right girl, or proving your opponent in error when he argument has been heated, or finding an unsuspected $1 bill in the pocket of a long-unused waistcoat. But the young man who used the bat upon the umpire frankly says he is sorry, and that he did not intend to hit the umpire "that hard."

A widow and four children survive the slain umpire, and the slayer admits, now that the heat of controversy has cooled, that the results of his passionate desire to punish the umpire for deciding against the home team are deplorable.

Nearly anyone would feel that way, although hardly anyone can, in moments of rage at seemingly erroneous decisions, quite realize that killing umpires would not result in enduring satisfaction.

It is natural to dislike the umpire intensely at times; to belabor him with words; to express the opinion that he should be put under a trip hammer, or the ardent wish that he would choke. But killing him would be wrong and would be regretted.

Let the umpire live, even when it is your profound conviction that his sudden death by violence would be no more than a just punishment.

Bird Friend of the Rhinoceros

The rhinoceros bird is a little bird, about the size of a thrush, with which the rhinoceros makes friends. The bird perches on the animal's head or broad back, and hops about devouring the insects and vermin which torture the huge beast. These birds are also believed to warn the rhinoceros of approaching danger, because they frequently have been observed running about the animal's head, flapping their wings and uttering shrill, warning notes, the beast seeming to understand their meaning.

Stradivarius Violins

Stradivarius was born in 1644 and died in 1737. He worked until he was over ninety years of age and turned out a large number of violins and violoncellos. Altogether, according to estimates, about one thousand violins and about three hundred other instruments are attributed to him. These other instruments include different kinds of viols, some bass viols and also some lutes, guitars and mandolins, very exquisitely wrought. The label in a genuine Stradivarius instrument is supposed to have been made of paper. Only an expert can distinguish a genuine instrument.

NATIONAL FOXHUNTERS MEET NOVEMBER 13.

Prime movers in the National Fox Hunters' Association, at a meeting held at the Lafayette Hotel, in Lexington, selected Washington Court House, Ohio, as the place for this year's annual field trials and fixed the date of the next meet for the week beginning Nov. 13.

A strong delegation came from Washington Court House and gave such wonderful descriptions of their home and so cordial an invitation that they easily won the decision of the hunters.

Other places which invited the association to meet with them were Olympian Springs, Lebanon and Richmond, Ky.

About 150 followers of the chase were present at the meeting. The men who came from Washington Court House brought with them 102 applicants for membership in the association, signed by residents of their county, Fayette county, Ohio.

The meeting was presided over by J. L. Kanatzer, of Richmond, the president of the association. J. W. Maupin, of Richmond, the secretary, kept the minutes of the meeting.

DID YOU EVER STOP TO THINK—

That your city should now be showing a marked, steady, improvement in business.

That you should enroll yourself with your city boosters.

That the lack of good hotel accommodations will have an adverse influence on a community.

That your city will be a more wonderful city if your own people make use of its advantages.

That since the advent of the automobile, people travel for pleasure as never before. They seek out cities that have good camping grounds or modern hotels as their stopping places.

That conventions gathering together large bodies of men and women, are increasing. These people go to cities where proper hotel hospitality is provided.

That you will find a never-ending procession of bargains in the happy hunting grounds for bargain hunters—the advertising columns of your newspapers. Read the ads!

That some cities, in order to succeed in really a large way, must assume new and better plans of development than they now have. Many cities seem content to remain a small city, others are pepping up, making plans of development on a large scale and every citizen is planning to help that plan. They will win.

NOW FOR SAFETY WEEK

Judge Gary has set aside October 8 to 14 as Safety Week, to be observed throughout the United States. This is believed to use up the available number of "weeks." It is understood the rules have not all been laid down, but the following may be used as a starter:

- 1—Patronize only bonded and certified bootleggers.
- 2—Do not make faces at traffic officers or internal revenue agents.
- 3—Spend the evenings at home with your own families.
- 4—Let the flapper have both sides of the street.
- 5—Refrain from all mushroom hunting trips.
- 6—Don't fail to laugh at all the boss's jokes.
- 7—Don't get married in an airplane—or anywhere else.
- 8—Don't write any love letters whatsoever.
- 9—Shun all modern dances unless you are a professional wrestler.
- 10—Don't drop underfed nickels in the street car fare boxes.
- 11—Do not sass any of the wife's relatives.
- 12—Do not try to dictate to any woman what she shall wear.
- 13—Don't play a pair of sevens against a pat hand.
- 14—Keep out of Wall street and don't even smell of an oil well.
- 15—Don't go traveling in Russia.
- 16—Don't be any kind of a pedestrian.

A VOICE IN THE WILDERNESS

With the censorship of the novel—of the play—of the moving picture, what is to become of our intellectual development? The doors of genius, which should stand wide open, are closed to shield any individual over ten years of age from seeing, reading, understanding anything which he should not (?)

There is nevertheless an admirable minority of intelligent persons who will go on, and censorship in its almost farcical form can not prevent progress.

Are we to be a race of morons in ten years? No. Natural progress will overcome the narrow, provincial and hypocritical atmosphere of the present day.—Marcel Steinbrugge.

Danger of Being Too Tall.

According to Dr. I. C. Rahbek, the great Danish specialist in tuberculosis, children who are abnormally tall for their age are peculiarly predisposed to tuberculosis.

Cynthiana defeated the Mammoth in a hard-fought game on the Cynthiana grounds Sunday afternoon, by the score of 5 to 4. Cynthiana secured the first run in the second inning, and added four in the fifth, while Paris scored one in the eighth and three in the ninth. Bailey, pitching for Cynthiana, was effective until the ninth inning, when he weakened and allowed three hits and a base on balls for three runs. Long replaced him and walked Valentine. Blakefield batted for Finerman, and with one strike and two balls Monhollen replaced Long. The game was not one to excite a great deal of enthusiasm, but it lasted long enough to demonstrate the fact that Paris needs a little more pep. The batteries were: For Paris—Valentine and Macke; for Cynthiana—Monhollen, Long, Bailey and Barker. The game was witnessed by a large crowd of Paris fans, who fondly hoped they would get revenge for the 8 to 2 trimming of the day previous. Time of game, 2:25. Triebel umpired.

"Eight to two in favor of Cynthiana" was the legend hung up on the score boards and bulletin boards as the result of Saturday's game at League Park, between Paris and Cynthiana. The game was one of the poorest played on the local lot this season, each team making six errors. Cynthiana's misplays, however, were not so costly as those of the league leaders. Long was very effective with men on bases, while Blakefield was unable to check the visitors in critical places in the early innings. One of the features of the game was a sensational running catch of a hard hit fly ball, by Woods, of the Paris team. Seitz, Cynthiana second baseman, laced the ball for a home run. Blakefield held the visitors to six hits. The game went two hours and twenty minutes. Bailey and Finerman umpired. The batteries were: For Cynthiana—Long and Barker; for Paris—Blakefield and Macke.

Dr. W. C. Ussery, of Paris, is being "prominently mentioned" in connection with the presidency of the Blue Grass League, made vacant by the recent resignation of Thomas M. Russell, of Maysville. No better selection could be made. Dr. Ussery was president of the old Blue Grass League, where he demonstrated his ability and a thorough knowledge of the game. Lexington and Maysville "hogged" everything in sight when the new league was organized. Now it is time for Paris to get into the game by putting forth Dr. Ussery as the logical selection for president.

Blue Grass League, the Maysville Bulletin of Saturday, says:

"The Lexington newspapers Thursday, heralded the fact that Mr. Thomas M. Russell had resigned as president of the Bluegrass League. Mr. Russell did offer his resignation at a meeting of the club owners in Lexington Wednesday night, but the magnates refused to release Mr. Russell from the duties of his office, so it was up to Tom to retain his position or see the Bluegrass circuit continue without a leader. Mr. Russell said this morning that the owners declined to even consider his resignation and that he would doubtless, under the circumstances, finish the season as head of the Bluegrass loop."

ENJOYABLE TIME FOR TELEPHONE PEOPLE

One of the most enjoyable events of the season for the "hello" people who help handle the affairs of a large and growing corporation, was the district meeting of employees of the Central Home Telephone and Telegraph Company, held at the local offices Thursday night.

Matters of business were discussed by the delegates present, all being of a nature calculated to further instruct them in their various duties. Following the business meeting a social session was held, in which the delegates mingled in a delightful hour of fellowship. Refreshments of a most appetizing nature were served the guests. The following delegates attended the meeting:

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. H. Y. Cardwell, Murray A. Welsh, Miss Katherine Tucker, Frankfort; W. M. Raine, Louisville; J. C. Moore, Misses Emma Owens and Doris Bowman, Maysville; C. M. CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR RALLY IN GEORGETOWN

A rally was held by the sixth Christian Endeavor district of Kentucky Saturday night at the First Christian Church in Georgetown. The Rev. Ralph W. A short talk was given by John Leach, district officer, representing the Georgetown society. Report were given by representatives of the various societies in the union.

After the program the party adjourned to the Sunday school auditorium, where games were played and a special musical program was given under the leadership of T. K. Shuff, Jr. An ice course was served.
